ATLANTIC FLIGHT
WILL BE A REALTYGrahame-White Wants to Be
First to Perform Feat

Claude Grahame-White is making preparations for an aeroplane flight across the Atlantic. He has designed a biplane which he believes can undertake the flight safely.

"The first flight across the Atlantic will mark an epoch in aviation," he said, "and my ambition is to be the first to reach America from Europe by aeroplane route."

"There is no doubt whatever in my mind that the transatlantic flight will be made before long by some one, and it is only a question of who the first shall be. I am trying to interest friends and supporters of aviation here in my prospective venture, and feel that with any kind of support the great flight will soon be a reality."

FULL RECOVERY EXPECTED

Lodge Now Able to Sit Up in Bed and

Partake of Food

Barring unforeseen complications, the recovery of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts is assured. This was the announcement made in a bulletin issued at Nahant, Mass., by Dr. Harrington, who was the operating surgeon when the gastric ulcer was removed from the statesman's stomach. Harrington added that the senator was able to sit up in bed and partake of a little food of a solid nature.

Even after word of the senator's illness had leaked out, for some hours the family refused all information and the doctors were pledged to secrecy.

PARENTS CHARGE CRUELTY

Doings at Institution For Boys Are to

Be Investigated

Charges of brutality were preferred against three attendants of the Parental school in the West Roxbury district of Boston at a meeting of the Trustees of how boys were beaten with straps until their bodies were black and blue, and how a teacher, after throwing a steaming hot potato into a garbage can, picked it up and forced it into the mouth of one of the boys, were listened to by the trustees.

Just what the outcome of the charges will be is not known, because a number of the trustees have declared they do not believe the attendants went beyond their authority in punishing the children. However, an investigation of the charges was promised by Chairman O'Hare of the trustees.

STYLE SHOW OPENS

More and Longer Slits and Fewer

Petticoats to Be the Fashion

Washington's fourth annual style show, with beautiful models wearing all the transparencies, slit skirts and other paraphernalia of advanced styles, has opened.

The interest of the capital's social contingent centres in M. Pol Poiret, Paris dressmaker, who has an exhibit displaying his new "minaret" gown.

News that slit skirts had so shocked some policemen here that they had arrested wearers gave Poiret a painful shock. He predicted more and longer slits, with few, very few, petticoats, in coming styles.

BROOKLYN

BIBLE STUDY ON

GRAVES OF GREEDINESS.

Numbers 11:4-34—Oct. 5.

"The supplication of a righteous man availeth much in its working."—James 5:16.

THE Israelites remained at Mt. Sinai about a year, learning important lessons. The Tabernacle was set up as a meeting place between God and the people. God was represented by the pillar of cloud resting upon its top, and at night flaring like a torch.

God's presence within the Tabernacle was seen only by Moses and Aaron, in connection with their privileged services. He was represented by the Shekinah brightness upon the Mercy Seat. Thus the Tabernacle became the center of the nation's life and interest in relation to God, who communicated to them through the mediator of the Law Covenant—Moses.

The Sin of Murmuring.

Those who accept God as their Leader should never murmur—never complain. To do so is to dispute the Divine Wisdom and the Divine promises, and to that extent to break the covenant of faith, obedience and loyalty.

St. Paul reminds us of the murmuring of the Israelites carries such a lesson to us.—Hebrews 3:7-19; 4:1-11.

The Lord's dealings with Israel show us that justice, love, mercy, loyalty to God and to principle are in the Divine estimation the highest qualities, and their violation the most serious crime. If we have not looked thus at matters, it behooves us to change our viewpoint and to take the Almighty's.

This murmuring against the Lord was concerning the manna, for which at first the people had been very thankful. They allowed their minds to become so vexed that they wept like children at the thought of the fleshpots of Egypt, and murmured in desiring to return to the old conditions. Little did they comprehend the situation. Had they returned to bondage, even after a year's freedom, their lot would have seemed more wretched than before.

Moses Too Greatly Burdened.

The result of this murmuring was severe upon Moses. He was the people's representative before the Lord, and the Lord's representative before the people. Heart-broken, he sought the Lord, saying that the burden was too heavy for him to bear.

Then it was that God directed the institution of the Jewish Sanhedrin—seventy Elders, to be the court of judges, responsible to the people, to deal with and to counsel them. While Moses remained head of the nation, the seventy shared his responsibility.

By Divine direction Moses made out the list of these Elders, and requested them to meet him at the Tabernacle. All but two came. There God honored Moses as the head of the nation, and then placed a share of the responsibility upon the 70. This was indicated by their prophesying. Even the two who remained in the Camp prophesied.

Quail In Over-supply.

God then sent word to Israel through Moses that he was about to send them a thirty-days' supply of flesh, such as they had murmured for. Under the Lord's providence, a strong wind drove thousands of quail to the vicinity of the Camp. Two days and nights the people gathered quail.

Agnostics have questioned this statement, thinking it a declaration that birds fell in a solid mass two cubits high. The proper thought is that the birds, driven across the sea, were so fatigued that they flew low, about two cubits (three feet) above the ground, where they could be easily caught.

The murmurers ate so heartily that pestilence broke out among them, a fever from over-eating, called "a fire from the Lord." Many died and were buried there. The place was called Kibroth-Hattavah—"Graves of Greediness."

Such the Lord permitted the unthankful to cut themselves off from further opportunity for murmuring.

The happiest mental condition conceivable is that which is satisfied with God's appointments. The spirit of discontent looks away from the Heavenly Manna, longing for other food. To such the Lord grants opportunity of feasting to the full on what they crave; but the murmurers cease from being members of His family.

The Bible supplies the Manna of Divine Truth. The Truth needs to be gathered, ground and baked. But it is God's provision, wholesome, nutritious, necessary for our perfecting as God's people. Yet some crave the fleshpots of Egypt—the world's theories. These God allows to come within their reach. They fill themselves with Higher Criticism and Evolutionary theories, and perish as New Creatures.

Greed, selfishness, stands connected with sin of every kind. It leads to every form of immorality, to satisfy its selfish propensities. It leads to injustice and untruthfulness in its endeavor to acquire a large share of God's blessings. It leads to anger, malice, hatred, envy, strife and murder in its endeavor to obtain a superabundant share of this world's goods. Selfishness is thus unrighteousness, and "all unrighteousness is sin."

SOCCER

Andover, 4; Olympics, 1.

In a game which was in a great measure spoiled by the constant wrangling with the referee, Andover won its fourth straight game and kept its position at the head of the league. The locals owed the visitors a beating for the loss of the league championship and the Marshall cup last season, and the beating came. Considerable feeling was manifested and Referee Wilkinson soon lost control of the players. He would have been justified in sending more players to the club house than he did, one of the locals and one of the visitors giving him considerable trouble during the game. He got no help from the spectators, not all men either, the remarks concerning his ability as a referee being far from complimentary or decent.

The game itself was poorly played, the chief feature being the brilliant forward play of Bill Deycrmond, who was in grand shooting form. He was continually bombarding the visitors' goal. Page at center was also in fine form and scored two of the four goals. Rae also served as a result of a penalty awarded against Higginbottom on an attempt to trip Page. Butler scored the only goal for the Olympics.

ELLIOTT'S PROMISE

New Haven Road Will Confine Activities to Railroad Business

President Elliott of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, speaking at the banquet of welcome tendered him by the Boston Chamber of Commerce, gave the solemn assurance that the New Haven, in the future, would spend what money it raised for the betterment of the property now in its possession, that it would confine its activities to transportation, and that it would not make any effort to discontinue the establishment of a steamship line from Boston through the Panama canal and to other parts of the world.

Elliott's statement was generally taken as a formal announcement that the New Haven will abandon its plans for the further purchase of trolleys in western Massachusetts, and that it will see to it that charges made in the past that it has sought to stifle the maritime development of Boston will, in the future, have no ground of truth.

Three Men Meet Death in Gloucester Outer Harbor

Trapped in the cabin of the twenty-six-foot motorboat Abbie E., three Beverly men were drowned in the outer Gloucester harbor when the fishing schooner Rhodora ran down the motorboat, striking her amidships with such force that she sank almost instantly.

Only one of the three men in the cabin had an opportunity to make the light for his life. Charles Bonney managed to struggle to the companionway, and was just on the point of throwing himself into the water when the Abbie E. was engulfed by the sea.

Only two of the party of five in the motorboat survive. They were on deck at the time the Rhodora's prow crashed through the motorboat's frail sides.

The dead are William Goss, 37; Charles S. Bonney, 35, and Spencer Abell, 40. They all lived in Beverly.

SHOT TO DEATH IN HIS HOME

Wife in Room With Farmer When He Is Slain

LIFE IS TAKEN AS HE SLEEPS

Woman Says Masked Men Overpowered Her With Chloroform and Stole $80—Police and State Authorities Suspect Tragedy Which Will Create Sensation in New Hampshire

Edward A. Shackford, a well-to-do farmer living at Freedom, N. H., was murdered by two masked men, who shot him to death while he was sleeping.

His wife, who occupied the same room, says she was rendered unconscious by the men, who placed a handkerchief saturated with chloroform over her face and held her down. Afterward, she declares, the men robbed the house, securing $80.

But the police and state authorities, who began an investigation at once, believe a mystery surrounds the tragedy which, when laid bare, will create a great sensation.

The first known of the tragedy was when Mrs. Shackford came to the house of a neighbor just after daylight and told the story.

A posse was immediately formed and a search of the section made by the men and officers for the two men described by the woman. She was breathless when she arrived at the farmhouse and collapsed after reciting her story.

The town was aroused by the announcement of the crime, and every available man volunteered for service in aiding in the apprehension of the criminals.

State authorities soon began to arrive and Attorney General Tuttle with Coroner Hobbs started at once a hearing. This was held at the home of the murdered man. Several witnesses were examined, mostly neighbors of the Shackfords.

The nature of the inquiries at the request led to the belief that the state authorities are not wholly satisfied with the story which Mrs. Shackford has told regarding the murder.

Shackford was 35 years old. He and his wife were the only occupants of the house, which is situated in a lonely section of the town.

CAUSE IS UNDETERMINED

Verdict of Coroner on Binghamton Factory Holocaust

"The cause has not been determined," is the verdict of Coroner Seymour regarding the Binghamton, N. Y., clothing company fire, which resulted in the loss of thirty-two lives on July 22 last. The decision includes several facts which appeared to the coroner to be unusual.

"The building was twenty years old," he says, "the interior was of soft wood and varnished, the material manufactured therein was of highly inflammable composition, and an old wooden stairway was in use for the entire four stories, and above the first floor but one stairway communicated with the remainder of the building." He also sets forth that the fire escapes were inadequate.

LIFE IN PRISON NOT AGREEABLE

Osborne Feels Resentment at Being Caged

BREAKS TWO SIMPLE RULES

Gets Off With Reprimand, but May Be Disciplined Before He Leaves Auburn—Works at Basket-Making Bench With Highwayman Serving Four-Year Term

"I feel like wrenching out the bars and forcing my way into the open. It is not strange, I suppose—just the natural resentment of a human being caged."

With these words Thomas M. Osborne, philanthropist and chairman of the state commission of prison reform, described his emotions at Auburn, N. Y., prison. He has chosen to live as a convict so that he may better understand the minds of the men whose condition he hopes to better.

The new "prisoner" has been reprimanded twice and may be disciplined before he leaves the institution. He "looked back" in the mess hall and was cautioned, and later while marching with his company got out of line in the half-hour exercise tour in the prison yard and again was rebuked.

Osborne's statement was made to E. R. Coas, secretary of the state commission, who had called at the prison to ask advice regarding imperative business now under consideration by the commission. Osborne consented to see him only after the nature of the business had been explained, and told Coas he would not consent to another call during his prison term. He refused to see reporters.

After the first day the prisoner was aroused with eighteen members of what is known as the "idle gang" soon after 6 o'clock and for two hours worked at pulling ears of coal.

After breakfast of cereal, coffee and bread, Osborne, or "Thomas Brown," as he is registered at the prison, was assigned to work in the broom and basket shop.

He worked at a bench with "bean" Gilroy, a highwayman serving a four-year term. He learned the making of basket bases, and, according to one of the attendants, turned out two perfect waste basket bottoms as his day's work. "Bean" showed him some of the tricks of the craft, with no conversation.

ROB BANK OF $6300

Boys Being Taught Finance by Banker Turn Out Embezzlers

After finding that two of his protégés had gone wrong, Emmett S. Hamilton, president of the City bank of Rayonne, N. J., said the discovery had brought to an end his cherished plans of educating boys in the banking business.

Charles K. Jaeger, 25, and Henry J. Klink, 19, the wrongdoers, occupy cells in the Hudson county jail, charged with embezzlement. They are held under $5000 bail each.

The boys, Hamilton said, have confessed taking money from the bank. Jaeger's shortage is $5850 and Klink's $1600, of which he took $1066 from Jaeger and which is included in the Jaeger account, making a total for the two of about $6300.

NO DELAY BY FELKER

Thaw Will Probably Know His Fate Within Ten Days

Governor Felker said that he would probably render his decision on the question of Harry G. Thaw's extradition about twenty-four hours after the briefs have been filed. The governor has given Thaw's counsel until Oct. 6 to file their papers, but it is understood that all the briefs will be in the chief executive's hands by Saturday.

William T. Jerome was expected here yesterday, but he did not arrive. Jerome has not asked the governor for a further delay on the extradition question, and as the chief executive is determined to act quickly in the matter, Thaw probably will know what is to happen to him within ten days.

NEW NOTE FROM JAPAN

Mr. Moore has been on a month's vacation.

Can it be "scallop"
That goes with "wallop?"

Ge! just think a bit
Of what a hit
At Gussie dear.
To appear—to say
That in a way
His "wallop"
Is like a "scallop!"

For a scallop test
Makes manifest
How water swells
Countless cells
Of empty stuff.
Considered "bluff"
In man's blow
And show.

And dear me!
It cannot be.
That Gussie P.
Is only that
In this spat!

His threats so tall
To hire a hall,
Would be a joke
To any bloke.

Capt Gussie.
But he has told
His courage bold
So oft and loud
The world is cowed
When he gets fussy.

Now Gussie dear
We really fear
Some day
They'll find you out;
And when they do
They'll "wallop" you
A deadly
Knockout clout.

Editorial Cinders

Candidate Bird can afford to laugh at the "wallop" and threats of "wallop" which are coming in regular bulletins these days. He is out in the field, talking to the voters, and from all that one can read and hear he is talking the kind of issues that would be better taken up pretty promptly by the other parties, and handled much more cleverly than they have been handling many of them, or they will see Mr. Bird the next Governor of Massachusetts. He is getting right down to the human interest side of life, which is a most effective issue, whether it is used in political campaigns or in making money. It was once effective to fill a party platform with high-sounding phrases, and different "point with pride" references, but these are the days when a man has got to "talk turkey" to the public, and show his goods frankly and openly, if he would secure consideration. There are people in the Republican party who would better learn the truth of this suggestion pretty promptly, or Mr. Bird will be finding himself clothed with authority, and loaded with the opportunity of making good some of his theories which he is now proclaiming. If that time comes, woe betide party government, and party responsibility for government, here in Massachusetts.

It is rather too bad to see Congressman Rogers lend himself so completely to the kind of a candidate and the kind of a campaign that Augustus Peabody Gardner represents in the present contest for Governor. The friends of Mr. Rogers had expected rather different things from him than that he should bow so promptly and completely to the dictates of the politicians of the Gardner stamp. The impression made by a recent announcement that he has been chosen as chairman of Mr. Gardner's campaign committee, along with a similar announcement that he will tour his Congressional district and meet the voters at the postoffices "to see what they want," sort of puts two and two together in a way much more creditable to a manipulator in politics than it is to a man of Mr. Rogers' stamp. Mr. Rogers is not going to be helped a bit by lining himself up with things that Mr. Gardner so completely represents.

One cannot think of the coming Founders Day celebration at Phillips Academy without becoming impressed by the significance of such a day for this particular institution. To celebrate mere age is not so very important; but to celebrate age associated with such achievement as has marked more than a century of active educational work by Phillips Academy, is something which commands the respect of everyone who takes time to consider. At no time in the history of the school have the pages been brighter, and the promise richer than in the period marked by the direction of affairs by the present regime. Andover should pause with the school itself and unite in making this occasion a striking memorial to important deeds of the past and a striking incentive to the school and all those who are interested in it, to continued and better efforts for future success.

The changing of time schedules on the New Haven railroad would have occasioned sharp protest not so very long ago, but the public has had some pretty bitter lessons in the last two years which make it very complaisant towards the announcement set forth in the changed schedule for the coming winter, making practically all of the trains between Boston and New York quite a little slower than they have been for several years past. "Safety first" is evidently to be the motto hereafter, or at least until the public forgets as it does so easily, and begins to howl again for faster service. The railroad situation in Massachusetts is a serious one, but there are many hopeful signs and not the least hopeful are the positions taken by the new railroad officials to whom have been entrusted the rehabilitation of the New England railroad lines. Let's all get busy, take a firm grip, and help in every way we can.

The National Bank work of remodeling is getting along slowly, but one needs only to glance into the vacated drugstore and see the splendid dimensions of the addition to be made to the present banking rooms, to be assured of the very superior equipment being planned for in the extensive alterations under way. The bank is going to prosper and profit through this change, but every bit of local business will likewise get some stimulus from association with an institution so sound as the Andover bank is, and soon to be so splendidly equipped.

Interesting Lectures the Coming Winter

Professor Moorehead wishes to announce that the Trustees have provided a fund for lectures the coming winter and that he expects to have such speakers as Professor Brander Matthews, critic and author; Professor Rustom Rustomjee, famous India scholar; Colonel Geo. Shields, the bird man and nature student; Miss Huling (Labrador) and a speaker familiar with Mexican affairs. Other entertainments will be announced later. Dates cannot be given until about October 15th.

Chadwick Club Concerts

Announcement has been made by the Chadwick Club of Lawrence of the following concerts for the season of 1913-1914: Wednesday, December 17, at the Lawrence Opera House, at 8 p.m., the Boston Symphony Orchestra, ninety-six pieces, Dr. Karl Muck, conductor. On Tuesday, January 27, 1914, at 8 p.m., at the Lawrence Opera House, the Flonzaley Quartet.

The announcement is of great interest to music lovers in this vicinity as it means two evenings of great enjoyment for those who will attend the concerts. Last year, the Chadwick Club, at great expense, secured the Symphony Orchestra and the Longy Club for their two concerts, and without exception they proved to be the year's greatest musical events. It is therefore pleasing to learn that this success is to be duplicated.

Associate members of the club will receive two tickets for each concert. The fee for associate membership is three dollars, including reserved seats at each performance. Tickets may be obtained of E. B. Choate, treasurer, at the Broadway Savings bank, 522 Essex street, or from any active member of the club; also at Dyer & Co.'s, 335 Essex street, and Knapp & Dimmock's, 254 Essex street, Lawrence. Checks and money orders should be made payable to the Chadwick Club.

The associate membership is limited. Secure your tickets early.

Held for Stealing Auto

John Pluff of this town and two Lawrence men were arrested this week and appeared in the police court charged with larceny of an automobile from the garage of Dr. George M. Garland in Frye Village. Pluff and one of the other men were held in $500 each for the grand jury. Pluff's father is employed by Dr. Garland as a chauffeur and at the time of the alleged larceny he was away with the family on a trip through the White Mountains. The son, apparently planning to have a "lark," got into the garage and took the Ford runabout which was there. He then picked up the Lawrence men, and the trio went to Boston where they spent the night. On Sunday they invited three girls to join them, and the party then took a trip to Salisbury Beach and returned to Haverhill, where they were stopped by the police. The caretaker at the Garland home had noted that the machine was gone and had notified the police of the fact. The three men were arrested, but the girls escaped.

For a Better Flower Show

A meeting of those interested in the Flower Show and the work of arousing a greater love of flowers in the community, took place on Wednesday evening, October 1, in the lower town hall. While the gathering was not large, probably owing in a measure to the fact that various other meetings of interest were being held on the same evening, the occasion was by no means lacking in enthusiasm, and various ideas were set forth and plans talked over for future work by those present.

It was voted to increase the general committee to have charge of the next Flower Show, from fifteen to twenty-five members, five additional ones elected from amateur gardeners, two more from the Florists' Club, two from the Andover Guild, and one from the Village Improvement Society.

When these members shall have been appointed, active work of planning for a still bigger and better show will be begun.

TO CALL MR. BIGELOW

South Church Votes to Extend Call to Lowell Minister Provided Parish Concur

A largely attended meeting of the members of the South Church took place in the church vestry on Wednesday evening at 7.45 o'clock to consider the question of pastoral supply. After considerable discussion, it was voted by a large majority to extend a call, provided the parish agree, to Rev. E. Victor Bigelow of Lowell, to become the pastor of the church.

About 150 persons were present and interest in the subject under discussion was keen. Frederick H. Jones was elected moderator of the meeting, while Myron E. Gutterson performed his usual duties as clerk. John Alden asked if the Prudential Committee of the church had any recommendations to make concerning the filling of the vacancy, and Judge Bell, chairman of the committee, replied that they were not prepared with any.

Rev. Clark Carter then explained the rather unusual position which the church occupied, in that it had for several months, during Mr. Shipman's leave of absence, had the services of a substitute minister, and stated that the call for the meeting had been sent out with the primary idea of deciding whether or not Mr. Bigelow should be called.

Francis H. Foster then moved that the church extend a call to Mr. Bigelow, the motion being seconded by David Shaw. An amendment suggested by John Alden, and later seconded and carried after some discussion, provided for a preliminary informal ballot, which was taken. This was followed by the regular formal vote, which declared almost unanimously in favor of Mr. Bigelow.

A committee consisting of three of the deacons of the church, Frank T. Carlton, J. Harold Melledge, and George S. Minor, was then appointed to confer with a similar committee to be chosen by the parish, the joint body to arrange necessary details with Mr. Bigelow.

A parish meeting to take action on the question will be held in the near future.

The Andover Ministerial Association celebrates its 150th anniversary at the First Congregational Church, Lowell, Tuesday, October 7. Included in the exercises are papers by Rev. C. C. Carpenter, Andover, "An Historical Sketch"; and Rev. F. A. Wilson, Andover, "Extracts from Old-time Sermons." Rev. Charles H. Oliphant of Methuen will point out "Contrasts in Church Music and Hymnology," and Professor Daniel Evans of the Andover Theological Seminary, Cambridge, will speak on "The Prospect for the Congregational Ministry." ### Helen Keller to Lecture

The lecture to be given in Davis hall, Monday afternoon, October 13, by Miss Helen Keller and Mrs. John Macy has been called the most instructive lecture, from a human and scientific point of view, that the public has ever had the opportunity to hear. Mrs. Macy, the beloved Miss Sullivan, will speak first and tell the story of that wonderful achievement in education by which the world was opened to Helen Keller, an achievement in which we do not know whether to wonder more at the genius of the scholar or the rare patience and devotion of the teacher. Miss Keller's subject will be "The Heart and the Hand—or the Right Use of our Senses."

It has been only within the past year that her voice has been so trained that she can address large audiences. It is hoped that many will avail themselves of this chance to hear two of the most remarkable women of the present time.

The lecture will be at a quarter to four on Monday afternoon, October 13, in Davis Hall. The price of admission is 50 cents.

A biplane owned by Miss Ruth Law of New York stopped Saturday evening at Myerscough & Buchanan's garage. The aviatress, who is known to the public as Miss Law, was accompanied by her husband and a dog. She had been flying at the Rochester Fair.

FOUNDERS DAY PLANS

Large Attendance of Alumni and Guests Expected at Phillips Celebration Oct. 11

A great deal of interest is being manifested in town over the Founders Day celebration which is to take place at Phillips Academy, Saturday, October 11, and should the weather prove favorable, there will undoubtedly be a large crowd at Brothers Field to hear the address by Hon. William H. Taft. This event of the program is the one which appeals most strongly to the general public, for the last president has many warm admirers here in Andover.

The day will be a holiday for the school, and in the morning the final preliminary football games will be played on Brothers Field. The fall track meet will also be held in the forenoon. At twelve o'clock, in front of the Archaeology Building, a memorial tablet will be dedicated, with an address by the Hon. Henry L. Stimson of New York, formerly Secretary of War. This will be followed at one o'clock by a luncheon in the Dining Hall to visiting alumni only. This restriction is made necessary by the limitations of the Dining Hall, the students also dining there at the same hour. There will be no speeches at the luncheon.

At 2.30 o'clock the principal event of the day for the townspeople will take place when ex-President Taft will deliver his address. He will speak from a platform erected in front of the baseball grandstand, which will be reserved for the invited guests. None other than the invited guests will be allowed on the grounds until after the procession of trustees, faculty, alumni, students and guests has entered. The procession, headed by the Waltham Watch Company Band, will form in front of Brechin Hall at 2 p.m., and will march to the Salem street entrance of Brothers Field. The general public will be admitted after the procession has entered, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to attend this part of the Founders Day celebration. The Waltham Watch Company Band will furnish music during the day.

At four o'clock there will be old-time sports on Brothers Field, with the following program of events: Three-legged race, wheelbarrow race, sack race, greased pole climb, potato race, greased pig, tug of war.

During Mr. Taft's stay in Andover he will be entertained by his classmate at Yale, Alfred L. Ripley of Central street, while Principal Stearns will do like honors to Hon. Henry L. Stimson.

The complete program for the celebration is as follows:

Oct. 10, 7.30 p.m. Mass Meeting with Songs and Short Addresses.

Card Party and Tea

A very successful and enjoyable card party and tea was held on Wednesday afternoon in the November Club house, under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Guild. There was a good attendance, about seventy ladies being present. The tables, each of which had been pre-arranged by some member of the Auxiliary, were fourteen in number, and from 2:30 until 4:30 o'clock auction, bridge and whist were enjoyed. At the close of that time the winner at each table was presented with a large dahlia, taken from a cluster of four dozen blossoms given for the occasion by George D. Millett.

Following the cards, tea was served, Mrs. George Selden and Mrs. Percival Dove pouring, and the afternoon was thus brought to a very pleasant close.

The proceeds of the affair will go towards the sum which has been pledged by the Auxiliary to the work of the Guild. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Selden, chairman; Mrs. Percival Dove, Mrs. W. K. Moorehead, Mrs. J. W. Feeley, Mrs. N. E. Bartlett, Mrs. W. D. Currier, Mrs. David Shaw, and Mrs. Lewis H. ## RALLY DAY EXERCISES

Sunday, with its beautiful fall weather, was observed as Rally Day in the South and Free churches, and not only were there large numbers of children present at the Sunday School exercises, but there was also a large attendance of grown-ups, so that the services were unusually successful and enjoyable.

D., secretary of the Congregational Sunday School society, who also made the address to the children. The anthem sung by the choir was "Ye shall go out with joy" by Barnby. The graduates of the Primary department recited the Ten Commandments and the Beatitudes, after which they were presented with bibles by Roy E. Hardy, assistant superintendent of the Sunday school. ## WEDDINGS

MAHONEY-HEALEY

Timothy J. Mahoney of this town was united in marriage on Wednesday afternoon, October 1, to Miss Margaret Etta Healey, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Healey of 484 Main street, North Andover. The ceremony took place in St. Michael's church, that town, at five o'clock, and was performed by the pastor, Rev. John M. Gallagher.

As the bridal party entered the church, the wedding march from Lohengrin was played by the organist of the church, J. Harry Lynch, and as the couple left the edifice Mendelssohn's wedding march was rendered.

The best man was John E. Lowe of Southbridge, a nephew of the groom, while the bridesmaid was Miss Mary A. Healey of Waltham, a cousin of the bride.

The bride was becomingly gowned in ivory duchess satin, trimmed with duchess lace. Her veil was caught up with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The bridesmaid was dressed in blue embroidered crepe de chine and carried pink Killarney roses.

After the wedding ceremony, the newly wedded couple departed to the bride's home where a wedding supper was served. The house was artistically decorated with the autumnal effect, and presented a pleasing appearance to the many guests. The serving was done by Caterer Weigel of Lawrence.

There were friends present from Lawrence, North Andover, Leominster, Southbridge, Newton Upper Falls, Waltham and Roxbury.

Many beautiful presents were received by the couple, including silver, china, cut glass and other useful articles.

The groom is a receiving clerk for the Tye Rubber Company and resides at 58 Red Spring road. He is a past grand knight of Andover council, K. of C.

After returning from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney will reside at the home of the groom on Red Spring road, Andover.

MULLANE-DALY

A very charming October wedding took place on Wednesday of this week when Miss Mary Daly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Daly of 6 No. Main street, was united in marriage to Dennis Joseph Mullane of Jamaica Plain. The ceremony took place at 3:30 o'clock in St. Augustine's church in the presence of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The knot was tied by Rev. F. S. Riordan, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Fr. White of Portsmouth, N. H., and Rev. George Lyons of Jamaica Plain. The ushers were Dr. John A. Daly, brother of the bride, and Dr. McCarthy of Lynn.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white satin, trimmed with duchess lace, and also a white picture hat. She carried a bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by her sister, Julia Daly, whose dress was of Irish point lace over apricot messaline. Her bouquet was also of roses. The best man was John J. Dooley of Springfield, a cousin of the groom.

A reception from four to eight o'clock followed the ceremony, at which the wedding supper was served by Caterer Page of Lowell. The house, which was prettily decorated with potted plants and cut flowers, was the scene of much merriment and enjoyment as the newly-wedded couple received the congratulations of the guests who were present. The number included only immediate relatives of the two families, who came from New York, Springfield, Boston, Jamaica Plain, Dover, N. H., Georgetown, Melrose and other points.

Late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Mullane left in an automobile for Boston. They will spend their honeymoon in Atlantic City, and will be at home to friends after December first at Spring Park avenue, Jamaica Plain.

The bride is well known in Andover, having been graduated from the Pynchard School and later from the New England Conservatory of Music. The groom is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and is an electrician by trade. The couple were the recipients of many beautiful wedding gifts from their many friends. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a twin diamond, while a pearl stickpin was presented to the best man and each of the ushers by the groom.

LABOR LAW REQUIREMENTS

Extracts From Bulletin Number 2—
State Board of Labor and Industries—Relating to Employment of Minors.

How a child between fourteen and sixteen years of age may obtain an employment certificate:

1. He or she must obtain from the intending employer an "Employer's Promise to Employ" which must state without ambiguity the nature of the proposed employment.

2. He or she must secure from the principal or teacher of the school last attended a "School Record" on the form provided for that purpose.

3. In addition to these there must be obtained a "Physician's Certificate of Health".

4. One of the following proofs of age:

(a) A birth certificate, or a duly attested transcript thereof, made by a registrar of vital statistics or other officer charged with the duty of recording births.

(b) A baptismal certificate, or a duly attested transcript of the same, showing age and date of baptism.

(c) A passport or duly attested immigration record, or transcript of the record, or other official or religious record of the child's age.

(d) The record of the age as given on the register of the school which the child first attended in Massachusetts, provided that such record of age was kept for at least two years during the time the child attended school.

(e) The signed statement of a school physician, or of a physician appointed by the school committee (not of the family physician, it is to be noted), stating that after examination he is of the opinion that the child is at least fourteen years old. Such physician's statement must be accompanied upon the same card by a statement signed by the child's parent, guardian or custodian, giving the name, date, place of birth and residence of the child, certifying that they are unable to produce any of the foregoing proofs of age. This statement should first be signed by the parent, guardian or custodian in the presence of the person issuing the Employment Certificate, and the card then taken to the physician to be certified by him.

McDOUGALL'S MUSINGS

Farming

I have just been reading about a farmer in Michigan who raises worms and from this worm business makes a thousand dollars a year. He gets ten cents a dozen for his worms from anglers who come annually to Lake Michigan and the fifty or sixty lakes near it. This worm farmer feeds his worms daily with corn meal and coffee grounds and learned this kind of work from an Indian.

In today's paper I see an advertisement asking me to put money into a farm to raise black foxes. Now both of these kinds of farms may be suitable and profitable and at the same time not the thing for North Andover and West Parish farmers. I get a Scotch paper every week and in it there is one column which gives details of the prices received for fat cattle at public sales. This week's prices have been higher than usual; for example, I note the sale of 40 steers at an average of 120 dollars. These cattle weigh, live weight, about twelve hundred pounds each and are from two and a half to three years old. They are called 3-year-olds. It is not often that these cattle have been on the same farm since they were calves; they may be and often are in three or four different hands. The dairy farms do not raise calves, the milk is too precious and commands a high price in the large towns near to which dairy farms are paying concerns, and the calves dropped are sent by rail often hundreds of miles to people who make it a business to feed calves and keep them for one year when they are sold as yearlings. The farmer who buys these yearlings or "stirks," keeps them for a year and then sells them as two-year-olds to farmers who make a specialty of fattening, or as it is called, finishing cattle for the butcher. I go into all this seemingly useless detail to show the utter ignorance that prevails as to raising beef. Even otherwise fairly intelligent men like the present mayor of Boston, don't realize the stupidity of thinking that cattle fit for the butcher can be profitably raised on any farm, and go as far as to say that every farmer should by law be compelled to make this fat cattle-raising part of his business.

It just amounts to this, that a great many people think that they know all about farming, and that it requires no gumption to speak of to be a farmer.

How is it that beef is so dear? The number of cranks who today answer any question from "sixteen to one silver" on to a certain cure for consumption if the serum is compounded in Germany, makes a Scotchman feel that his countrymen are not the only conceited people on earth.

I may be wrong, but in my opinion the reason why beef is so high in price, is that the demand for it has increased and the raising of cattle has not been increased in proportion to the demand. Supply and demand regulates the price of any article, and even the wages paid in a country depend more on the supply and demand than many standpat people dream of.

Referring to the consumption of beef as an article of food, I may mention that seventy years ago, in Scotland the great majority of the people only tasted beef on rare occasions. The farmers lived on oatmeal and milk, and in winter had potatoes, cabbage and a bit of salt pork once a day. Another thing that has raised the price of beef is the higher wages paid; wherever wages are raised there is a demand for the comforts of life which some good people call unnecessary luxuries.

I finish my first farming letter by thanking the West Parish farmers for the many kindnesses I have received from them and the number of apples I stole going and coming from Haggett's pond they will not mention when the Books are opened by St. Peter in the land that has a "river clear as crystal."

IAN McDOUGALL

P.S.—That poet man, Mr. McKnight of Beverly, has more poetry and a notice of a kindly visit I had from him in the last week's Townsman. All I say just now is that it is too flattering a notice of an old man in his second childhood. I thank McKnight and the worthy "Hamilton." I only mention that my mother's name was McDougall and that "Ian" is the gaelic word for John, so that I have not changed the family name, only translated it into gaelic! I. McD.

Art Notes

I wonder how many happened to be awake to a good view of the eastern sky on the evening of Thursday the 25th. We have remarkably fine sunsets much lauded, but none I have seen had lovelier combinations of color, the apple green below, just five minutes ahead of the sun at 5.30, and above, around the whole great circle of our horizon, the pale French pink clouds on the intense blue background, and just three hours ahead in the sun's path, little twinkling Venus, a pure "diamond in the sky," and nearly south, the crescent of the midnight moon, on a purple blue field. Not a thing below the pink cloud sprays in the west save white river fogs and tree fringes. My windows on the Square and on the court at the rear of the homely building, make up for all the other drawbacks of a place of sojourn, that Roger has found too much for his love of the old camping four acres. His apple tree is dead from bonfires, the little garden plot a mass of weeds and burdock, and contributions of friends and neighbors, to as unsightly a heap of fly and mosquito breeding rubbish as you can exhibit anywhere in a city slum—even Melrose street up the Merrimac in Lawrence, once all wild flowers and sweet smelling pines. What is the town going to do about utilizing the valuable material, wasting its sourness on the village air in many another back-yard at congested spots in the centre of the village?

Village Improvements, Boards of Health, and Civic Beauty service leaders elsewhere are solving this problem of our waste material. The last walk I took past Cooper's Pond, at the foot of the slope below the South church, revealed the unsightly dump, or one of them, which I suppose is an attempt to fill up the kettle hole that once provided our youth with turtles in the summer and good skating in the winter; but now a breeder of undesirable underworld life. There, on the sands to the westward, Daniel Webster charmed the natives about the time the Boston & Maine put in its first excursion trips, and this spot was chosen because of the extra charm as well as plenty of room, for the crowd all over the county who were present. You pay one man's brain to fix up the paths of travel properly. Why not pay some woman like Miss Lincoln, with an aide-de-camp, for execution, to supervise the whole system of "clutter"? Get adjoining towns to join to bear the expense with us, and have a mighty dump on Gibbet Plain on the Reading line that will convert our tin cans to food for roses and cucumbers.

ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATRES

BOSTON THEATRES

Continuing Attractions

Hollis Street—Julia Sanderson in "The Sunshine Girl."
Park—"The Conspiracy."
Shubert—"The Purple Road."
Tremont Temple—"Les Miserables."
Boston—"Joseph and His Brethren."

HOLLIS STREET

Miss Julia Sanderson is on the second week of her engagement in "The Sunshine Girl." Miss Sanderson, who is always a favorite with Boston audiences, has an unusually pleasing vehicle in this piece and is well supported by an excellent company.

PARK

"The Conspiracy" began the third week of its engagement at the Park theatre on Monday of this week, and large audiences are the rule to enjoy this play which is a charming mixture of humor and excitement.

SHUBERT

"The Purple Road," with Miss Valli Valli in the leading role, is still delighting large audiences at the Shubert theatre, where the play is on the second week of its engagement.

BOSTON THEATRE

The attraction that is now being played at the Boston Theatre is the Liebler Company's spectacular drama "Joseph and His Brethren." This big aggregation came directly from the Century Theatre, New York, where it ran the greater part of last season. The Boston engagement began last Monday most propitiously and indicates a prosperous run. The eminent cast that was seen in New York has been kept intact for Boston. The company proper numbers ninety, and with the extra people employed in Boston there are more than two hundred and fifty people on the stage.

"Joseph and His Brethren" was written by Louis Parker, the noted English dramatist, and is in four acts and thirteen scenes. It adheres to the Biblical story of "Joseph" quite closely, which is one of the most interesting in the Old Scriptures.

PLYMOUTH

The tremendous reception accorded George Arliss in "Disraeli" at the Plymouth theatre would lead one to believe that both were making their first appearance. The success was merely a repetition of its former engagement at this playhouse. The only regret, however, is that the present engagement is positively limited to four weeks only. Mr. Arliss's stay terminates on Saturday night, October 25. Those who have seen the fascinating elements of this remarkable play as well as the masterful characterization offered by Mr. Arliss, agree that the play is better enjoyed when witnessed the second or third time. In short "Disraeli" is just the sort of play that the more you see it, the more you like it, as evidenced by hundreds of repeaters who viewed the production on its initial engagement in Boston last season. While there is every reason to believe that "Disraeli" is destined to live for a long time, Mr.

NORTH ANDOVER

Station Agent and Mrs. William Howes have returned from a fortnight's trip to New York.

Street Commissioner Willard H. Poor is making rapid progress on the macadamizing of Pond street.

The fourth annual outing of the "Jolly Twelve" proved one of the most enjoyable of the season. About 175 people from Lawrence, Andover, Methuen and North Andover attended, among those present being a number of prominent people.

Arlliss's bookings will necessarily absent him from Boston for several seasons. This means that the present opportunity is to be the last for a long time. The play shows the great English statesman at the height of his career, in the early seventies, striving to obtain possession of the Suez canal for England, the intrigues that developed with the undertaking and through all a delightful love story. It is a part admirably fitted to Mr. Arlliss's artistry. The matinees are as usual, Thursday and Saturday, in addition to a special matinee on Columbus Day, Monday, October 13.

COLONIAL

For that great general public—and it is great—which acclaims Geo. M. Cohan, the best feature of his play, "Broadway Jones," which he is presenting at the Colonial theatre, is the fact that it keeps its audience laughing all the time, and that, too, frankly, unreservedly and hilariously.

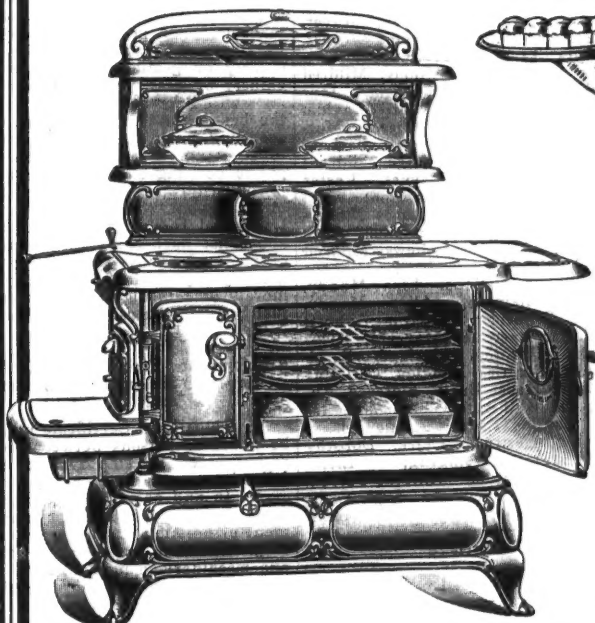

The story told in "Broadway Jones" is decidedly interesting. There are a hundred and one little details in the surroundings and in the characters that people the play in general, that are familiar in American life which Mr. Cohan has either seen or heard about and he has transferred them to the theatre with a fidelity that demonstrates his keen sense of comedy and deep understanding. In "Broadway Jones" Mr. Cohan has written another of his remarkably clever comedy figures, one into which, in playing, he projects his magnetic personality with a sincerity that makes for certain success. Then, too, he has surrounded himself with a fine company whose individual and collective efforts add materially to the satisfaction that is derived from viewing this newest Cohan product.

TREMONT TEMPLE

Despite the fact that on next Monday "Les Miserables" enters upon the sixth successful week of its engagement at the Tremont Temple, there is no abatement in the enormous interest aroused by this magnificent photo-play. Great care was utilized by the producers in the staging of the production, as well as in the selection of the cast, with the result that the work is being deservedly rewarded by loudest praises of both the press and public. Every particle of interest that Victor Hugo's world-famous masterpiece affords the reader is admirably sustained in the play. The costumes and settings are realistic, while the acting of the principal roles is highly commendable. Jean Valjean, the central figure of the book, is characterized in a natural and compelling manner by M. Henri Krauss. Fantine, the pathetic and unfortunate girl of the story, is ably handled by Mlle. Ventura. Her heartfelt and sincere appeals, displayed in a lifelike manner upon the screen, are irresistible and at every performance seize the emotions. The others in the cast perform excellently. On Tuesday, October 14, the management announces a "Victor Hugo Night," on which occasion there will be present representative French people, including the French consul at Boston. Those desiring seats may send in their orders now. Reservations may also be made by phone. The prices are as usual, 25c, 35c and 50c. There are daily matinees.

Electrene Fire Gun

A demonstration is to be made before the Fire Department and the citizens of Reading, October 7, 1913, Tuesday evening, at 8:30 o'clock, by a representative of Alfred Winsor & Son of Boston, New England agents, to show how easily they can put out a gasoline fire by the use of the Electrene Fire Gun. We understand that this extinguisher, which will put out gasoline, oil or electrical fires, is the standard oil and electrical fire extinguisher of the New York Fire Department. It is also used by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co., Washington (D. C.) Fire Department, Standard Oil Co., Western Electric Co., and various other large corporations. It has recently been placed in local fire departments, such as Haverhill, Dover, (N. H.), Chelsea, Winchester, Pittsfield, Northampton, Medford, etc. If this distinguisher will do the work claimed for it, it will be very valuable to automobile owners, fire departments, mills, and in every private house. This demonstration will be watched with interest and a report of the result will be published in this paper.

Diversified Farm Accounting

In the Massachusetts Crop Report Bulletin for the month of August, L. A. Sloman of Amesbury, a student of time and efficiency and an expert in practical accounting for farms, country estates and agricultural school teaching, epigrammatically sets forth the fundamental principles and methods of keeping both small and large farm accounts.

In no other trade in this country today has the student the advantages of the farmer. Knowledge is his for the asking, either from the Department at Washington or from state colleges and boards of agriculture. The kind of farming and breed of stock you like best will pay you the largest profits. It is not necessary to practice the kind followed by the majority. Be unhampered by tradition. If you can't make a department pay after trying different methods, drop it in favor of another. Statistics prove the trend of travel from the west and Canada to be towards and not from New England. Look well to your methods and opportunities as you are now located. You do not have to go to Arcotook to raise potatoes, or west to raise beef or mutton. Proper crop rotation will produce the potatoes, and soil-cropping the pastures will increase your milk, beef, and mutton production. New England farmers have the advantage of nearby markets.

Any man, however successful, who doesn't keep records and take account of stock frequently, can be shown where he is losing money. He may show a large yearly profit, but in some department, were records kept, a loss would be shown that was greatly reducing his legitimate profit. Knowledge of losses avails you nothing without prompt application of the remedies. To judge the efficiency of the remedy you must have figures to show the results in different methods of handling each department. Convince yourself by proper accounting methods where your mistakes were; take a new lease on life and the Old Farm, and you will be surprised at the opportunities so long overlooked because they were nearby. Well-kept accounts showing knowledge of your business constitute one of the strongest arguments you can present to the banker when in need of more capital.

Surprise Party for Mr. Lombard

Last Monday evening a very pleasant surprise and home-welcome, in the shape of a pound-party, was given to Rev. William E. Lombard and his family. About seventy of the church people filed into the house in the early evening, well laden with parcels of all descriptions, from one that suggested sunshine, to a box of condensed milk. There was a short program, consisting of remarks by the pastor and others, songs, violin solos, and some rhymes produced for the occasion. The spirit of jollity and good fellowship prevailed, and everyone had a thoroughly good time, especially the surprised ones, who wondered what all those delightful packages could contain. Ice cream and cake were served to all, and the social broke up at an early hour.

The following poem was read during the evening:

A WELCOME

The men in town right well have planned
When they had built our fine bandstand
Twas just the place for us to meet,
Assembling there from many a street.

All proud and glad to bring surprise
To one whom we so highly prize.
He's back from his down east vacation,
All primed, enthused, for his vacation.

As master-mariner, to guide
Our own church-ship through wind and tide.
The summer brought great rest and cheer,
Were grateful for it in our year.

And now, we're round to talking time,
So we all come, with prose and rhyme.
A crew of folk, from zillion ship,
A welcome hearty on every lip.

We welcome back with all our might
Each one of all this family bright.
We wish for all much work and play,
And wishes for each future day.

We'll help to bring these things to pass
By coming here, tonight, en masse.
By working on the ship we love,
By helping it to forward move.

By willing service, here we know,
And often over the life-line throw.
All unbeknowner to our ship's guide,
An event career we did bide.

And now, we're round to talking time,
So we all come, with prose and rhyme.
A crew of folk, from zillion ship,
A welcome hearty on every lip.

We welcome back with all our might
Each one of all this family bright.
We wish for all much work and play,
And wishes for each future day.

This Morning's Papers Destroyed

The Andover station presented a very unusual appearance early this morning, when the Portland train going express through here left behind it about 800 newspapers which had been torn and cut into bits under the wheels of the train.

In the vicinity of 1000 morning dailies consigned to O. P. Chase, the local news-dealer, are brought out every morning on the paper train, and as it goes through the station, the various bundles are thrown out.

This morning all but two or three bundles struck the track and were piled over by the train, the result being that for 1000 feet from the point from the freight-house, a mass of paper was the only thing to be seen.

Dan Hanna, Jr., Printer

The following clipping will be of interest to those who knew Dan R. Hanna, Jr., who was a Phillips Academy graduate last June:

"CLEVELAND, Oct. 1.—Beginning in the mechanical department, Dan R. Hanna, Jr., grandson of the late United States Senator Mark Hanna, and heir to millions, has started to learn the newspaper business. Below the street level in the pressroom of the Leader-News building young Dan has begun his career. Wearing overalls, he works the same every day as others in the pressroom. Twelve floors above, his father, Dan R. Hanna, transacts his business in an office.

"Dan has started to learn the business from the bottom," said his father. "When he is worthy of advancement I will push him forward." "Dan R. Hanna, Jr., is a tall, slight young man. He was graduated from Phillips Andover Academy in June, and spent his vacation at his home at Ravenna, Ohio."
